

THIS was the scene as the bill to increase the sales tax died in the closing hours of the legislature's special session:

"You're in the house of representatives. On the floor is Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perry county. In the 1951 regular session he introduced a bill to increase the state income tax, but it was beaten. At the same time he fought any hike in the sales tax. He beat the sales tax in the regular session, and he's beating it now. Here's what he says:

"The people of this state spoke when they defeated Amendment 41, yet we hear the school people down here now crying 'For God's sake, give me more money for my salary and my supervisors, supervisors and supervisors.' Why haven't they helped us pass some of these other taxes? You know why—because all these lobbyists want is a sales tax and nothing else."

And a little later the exasperated Mr. Van Dalsen added these remarks:

"The senate has made us the goat twice here and I'm willing to stay in session and toss a hot potato back in their laps. Let's pass some of these other tax measures and let them sweat a little."

There's grim humor in this legislative by-play, and yet it is essentially tragic. It is the story of a misguided lobby's attempt to run rough-shod over, first the people, and then the orderly processes of the legislature. Van Dalsen's words have the ring of truth—why "only the sales tax"?

Every citizen who merely reads newspaper reports knows, like the student of parliamentary procedure, that the essence of representative government is compromise.

But the school lobby was wholly hard-headed and uncompromising last fall when it demanded "all or nothing" in its amendment grab, No. 41. The people beat it in the general election.

There was the same uncompromising attitude on the sales tax question in the 1951 regular session. The sales tax increase was beaten.

And again, "no compromise" in the special session—and once more the schools come away empty-handed.

Three times up . . . and three times down.

Isn't it about time the Arkansas Education association shook the daylight out of the most stupid lobby in our state's history?

If some of the Little Rock businessmen don't believe this is a democracy, let me live in what are the school teachers keeping them around for?

Everyone relishes a good legislative fight, but with the school's state aid fund at stake this has been a tragic business—because so futile.

As Van Dalsen says, we could have given temporary help with a short-term increase in the income tax rate—and in view of the disaster in the regular session this newspaper had indicated its support of such a bill in the emergency session . . . or any measure except the sales tax.

Another alternative, and less painful, is one I think should have been at least debated in the special session, and perhaps passed and referred to the people in a special election. That is the seizure of the wholesale and retail liquor business and the setting up of a state-owned dispensary system.

Regardless what the prohibitionists tell you, this is an honorable procedure—honorable enough for such other Southern states as Alabama, North Carolina, and Virginia—not to mention the largest and best-schooled states of the North.

And the liquor dispensary plan, without adding one penny to the public's present tax bill, would have produced 12 million dollars or more per year for the state government.

We'll raise more money here at home for city schools—but how about the scattered country districts that have a legitimate claim on substantial state aid?

What's wrong about setting up a state liquor monopoly and helping the country schools?

Is it any more immoral to put the state into the liquor business than to tax poor families 2 cents on the dollar for bread and meat, and the great property interests of Arkansas are not carrying their fair share of the cost of public education?

Tell me where I am wrong. I'm listening.

Allies Launch Limited Push Near Hwachon

Tokyo, April 19 —(AP)— Allied troops today launched a limited attack north of the newly captured Hwachon power dam and reservoir on the east-central front in North Korea.

The Allies seized the big hydroelectric grid Wednesday after Reds who had defended it stubbornly for days slipped away to the north. Thousands of Allied doughboys poured into the dam and reservoir area. United Nations riflemen struck north from Hwachon at the west end of the reservoir. They traded fire with an enemy group of undisclosed strength but later withdrew.

Chinese Reds pulled back all along the central front in the mountainous area west of the reservoir.

Rain, smoke and haze made air observation impossible. But United Nations troops patrolled aggressively far ahead of their lines in those craggy heights without opposition.

Heavy rain slowed the Allied push on the Western front. Chinese mounted a daylight, company-sized counterattack 10 miles inside Red Korea north of Yonchon.

Allied artillery and a late afternoon air strike threw back the attack.

U. N. forces inches forward up the last hillcrest before Chorwon, 17 air miles north of the border. Other Allied troops neared Ching-yong, southeast of Chorwon and 18 air miles inside the Redland.

Behind front lines, American engineers and Korean road crews were working day and night to weather proof roads against the heavy rains soon due.

There was no official explanation for the sudden Red pullback that permitted the Allies to take over the Hwachon dam and reservoir.

Eight of the dam's 18 floodgates were still open. The dam is 80 feet long and 250 feet high. It backs up water for 11 miles and once was a major source of power for Seoul.

Allied troops seized Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir Wednesday without a fight. They captured Yangu on the eastern end Monday. An eight-man Red patrol probed to the outskirts of Yangu Wednesday night. Heavy Red mortar shells fell into the city Thursday afternoon.

The slow, deliberate U. N. drive appeared to be near the line between Chorwon and Jumwa, 14 miles northeast. Behind it, the Reds were believed to have massed 600,000 men for an expected spring drive.

A U. S. Eighth Army communiqué Wednesday indicated the Allies were having trouble finding the Reds at most places. It said Allied patrols in central Korea were trying "to fix the position of an elusive enemy."

Red casualties Wednesday totaled only 445, about half the usual daily score, indicating little action. A South Korean force on the east coast moved 28 miles north of the Red border before it met Red opposition.

Mumps, Measles Here But Few Cases Reported

Although mumps, mumps and influenza are making the rounds in Hempstead as well as all over the state few cases are reported to the Hempstead Health office. All cases are supposed to be reported, but few are.

Since January 1, Arkansas has had 4,534 cases of mumps, 1,391 cases of measles and 8,713 influenza cases. Cases reported the past 10 days has caused the total to shoot upward.

Veterans School Scheduled Here Tonight at 7:30

Veterans, men now in service, wives and parents of veterans and servicemen, and other persons having any interest in veterans affairs are reminded today that an important and instructive meeting will be held in the Library of Hope High School tonight at 7:30 p. m.

The two-hour meeting is one of 2 to be held during April throughout Arkansas under the auspices of the Arkansas State Service Office to provide vital information to veterans and others in matters concerning all types of benefits to which veterans and their dependents may be entitled.

Among those scheduled to be present to explain the various subjects and to answer questions are representatives of the local State Representative Service Office, Arkansas State Veterans Office, Veterans Administration Contact Service, Veterans Administration Training Officer, and others having direct daily contact with veterans and their dependents.

"It is believed that this meeting will result in a greater awareness on the part of those dealing with veterans affairs and provide information to the veteran and to the dependents of the veteran," officials of service organizations said.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars commanders invite and urge all veterans or any person who has a desire to be of assistance to veterans to attend this meeting.

Boyle Says Gen. MacArthur Should Send His Son to the Garden to See a Circus

New York — (AP)— Mac's back. And at his side, sharing the tremendous ovations accorded general of the Army Douglas MacArthur's is his teenage son, Arthur.

What is he like this tall, dark, erect boy of 13 — the son and grandson of famous American military heroes?

Born in Manila, he had been through two wars but never had seen his own homeland until this week. A half-mile lit his handsome features as he stepped down the gangway of his father's plane at San Francisco for the first time on the soil of the American continent.

What turbulent thoughts were in his young mind as he rode with his father and mother to their hotel through lanes of cheers?

Already he has seen more of the dangers of war and the perils of peacetime politics than most adults ever know. He has grown up in an atmosphere of great events and great names. But he has never seen a major league baseball game, played hockey from school — or played stick scrimmage with a battering in can in the streets. Adventure has surrounded him almost since his birth.

When he was four he was on Corregidor, and the Japanese were shelling this stronghold in Manila Bay. The only birthday present his mother could find for him was a can of army post exchange peanuts. But when asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, he said, "a good soldier — like my father."

Soon after that he made his escape from "The Rock" with his parents by threading through Japanese minefields in a motor torpedo boat. His Chinese nurse went with him, and they flew to Australia, where he was given a second birthday present — a letter.

Schools Now on Their Own McMATH Says

Little Rock, April 19 —(AP)— Governor McMATH said late yesterday that it's up to the public schools and state-supported colleges to get along the best they can without hope of additional state revenue soon.

He made the statement four hours after legislature ended special session without providing any more money for schools and colleges.

McMATH, who called the special session primarily for more revenue for educational purposes, said there wouldn't be another one.

In a formal statement, McMATH said he was requesting the legislative council to organize a committee to study school needs "and to make recommendations" (preliminary to the 1953 general assembly) for an educational program that we can support.

He suggested similar surveys in local school districts.

McMATH said an additional $500,000 yearly is needed from state sources to carry on the current school program.

"This revenue will not be available," he said. "The school districts will have to take the cut and plan accordingly."

McMATH pointed out that state-supported colleges and the University of Arkansas "do not have any source of local revenue to compensate for the loss of state funds."

The governor criticized some legislators.

No-Politics Stand Termed Wise Move

Washington, April 19 —(AP)— Politicians of both parties said today Gen. Douglas MacArthur's no-politics stand was a wise move which should give his views more influence with the public and congress.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), who spearheaded criticism in congress of the ousted general, said MacArthur may have removed some possible causes among Republicans ambitious to run for president or vice president.

MacArthur told a huge crowd in San Francisco yesterday: "I have just been asked if I intended to enter politics and my reply was no."

"I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name never will be used in a political way. The only politics I have is contained in a simple phrase known well by all of you — God Bless America."

MacArthur's name was formally presented before the 1948 Republican presidential convention. Despite his age — 71 — some had expected it would be offered again. Some MacArthur — for President moves already have started.

But most Republicans and Democrats, who would be quoted, expressed little surprise at the general's announcement.

House Republican Leader Joe Martin (Mass.), who led the effort to get congress to hear MacArthur today, said the general "previously told some of his friends that he was not interested in politics."

"He is only trying to be of genuine service to the country by pointing to its dangers," Martin added.

Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska said "this should put a stop to all the snipers and hatchmen who have been dragging General MacArthur politically into the great decision that must be made on what our national defense policy should be."

Senator Kerr said: "I know some Republican senators who will feel relieved that he will not be contesting against them for the two top spots in their ticket, and I know others who will be even more disappointed that he is not their contestant."

Hope Man to Be Witness in Gambling Probe

Kansas City, April 18 —(AP)— A Grand Jury investigating the affairs of St. Louis Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll today heard only a third of witnesses waiting to testify.

The waiting list includes E. L. Archer Jr., of Hope, Ark.

There was no explanation of the lack of progress and the investigation will continue tomorrow with at least a dozen witnesses on hand.

Richard B. Bradley, 72, of Peoria Ill., was among those to go before the jury today.

It certainly was inconvenient to come here at this time," Bradley said before going into the jury room. He had been elected the night before to the Board of the Town and Gown Club, a civic group in Peoria which helps support Bradley University there.

"I don't know what they will think of my being called here, although doctors, lawyers and college professors all bet on horses and many ask my advice on bets, too," he said.

H. M. Pender of Little Rock testified before the jury yesterday. Carroll was charged with two informations filed here March 28 by the district attorney's office with failure to report compensations paid out as gambling gains and commissions totaling $52,688.15 in 1945 and 1949 tax returns.

Maragon to Tell About Dawson

Washington, April 19 —(AP)— JV Maragon, who once had White House entry, tells a congressional committee today what he knows about George Dawson, a big English trader in American military surplus equipment.

Rep. Bonner (D-NC) said Maragon was appearing before a house expenditures subcommittee (10 a. m. EST) at his own request. Bonner's committee has been investigating big-profit dealings in Army surplus abroad, and has named Dawson as a trader whose deals in U. S. army trucks and parts have netted him millions.

Bonner said Maragon apparently assisted Dawson in negotiations for surplus in the United States as well as abroad, figuring in deals in New York, Bermuda and Paris.

Maragon, one-time Kansas City bootblack, is now appealing a perjury sentence resulting from his testimony in the senate's 1949 "five percenters" investigation of influence in government contract awards.

That investigation spotlighted Maragon as a friend of Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's military aide.

Maragon's name got into the current surplus purveyor investigation because of a letter which Vaughan wrote in 1948 to Gen. Clyde Hysong, then on duty in Europe.

The letter said in part: "The will introduce my good friend John Maragon, who is representing George Dawson and company, and who is interested in purchasing materials from the foreign liquidation service."

Truman Ready With New Wage Board

Washington, April 19 —(AP)— President Truman will set up probably within the next few days a new wage stabilization board having authority to handle emergency labor disputes during the defense program.

Announcing that intention at a news conference yesterday, Mr. Truman brushed aside the objections which management representatives have voiced to the proposal, "recommended by the newly created 11-man mobilization advisory board."

When you get a three to one decision, Mr. Truman said, it's time to operate. That was a reference to the fact that the new wage board plan had been approved Tuesday by the 12 advisory board members representing labor, agriculture and the public. The four industry representatives dissented.

Mr. Truman had little other news for reporters yesterday.

He made it virtually certain he and General Douglas MacArthur would not get together today, following the general's return from Tokyo. Mr. Truman ousted him last week in a policy disagreement.

The President said it was not a spokesman's job to say that MacArthur would be received at the White House if he asked for an appointment. Signs are the general didn't plan to seek one.

Mr. Truman refused to be drawn out further. He said (A) his views on the Far Eastern situation were well known (B) MacArthur is going to give his own views and (C) he didn't intend to answer any questions on the subject.

On the question of setting up a new wage board to replace the one which has been in effect since its labor members resigned in protest over a wage ceiling formula two months ago, there had been some legal doubt the President could act.

Address to Congress Very Dramatic

Washington, April 19 —(AP)— The address to Congress by General Douglas MacArthur was very dramatic. He spoke of the threat of communism in Asia and the need for a strong defense.

He looked at the camera and said, "I am not a politician. I am a soldier. I am here to tell you the truth about the situation in Asia."

The lines of his face were set in a grimace. He spoke of the need for a strong defense and the threat of communism in Asia.

family — your husband or one of your brothers — should tell your mother plainly that her letters are worrying you and that she should either send more cheerful mail or stop writing at all.

If no one in the family can handle the problem in this way, have your doctor or nurse write her tactfully that your recovery depends on a cheerful frame of mind and she must be co-operative.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 16. Have gone steady for more than a year with one boy. Do you think I am too young to be going steady?

C. O. D.

Answer: I don't think a girl at any age, whether she is 16 or 116, should go steady with a boy until the engagement is announced and the day set for the wedding.

There are two good reasons for this: One is that no girl should marry until she has known a lot of boys and gone around with them so that she can be sure that the one she is going with is the one she really likes best. The second reason is that if a girl goes steady with one boy and has no other friends among the boys, she is left flat if he gets tired of her and leaves her for another girl.

Isators, not identified by name, who he said had reneged on commitments to find additional school money.

He said:

"I was requested to call this (special) session by a majority of the members of the general assembly, all of whom dedicated themselves to providing funds for schools. Most kept their pledge and made a whole-hearted effort."

But he said "some of those who were most insistent on a special session to provide funds for out schools were most violent in their opposition to all measures designed to solve the problem."

McMath said it was "strange indeed that some of the members of the general assembly who opposed the school program most vigorously came from counties which are in greatest need of state assistance in order to have normal school terms."

End of the special session, which opened April 9, came yesterday after the house late Tuesday rejected an additional one per cent sales tax. The senate had approved the measure to get more money for schools and colleges. The proposed increase was estimated to provide $12,000,000 or more annually in additional revenue.

The special session followed by approximately a month the regular general assembly, which ended March 8.

A number of Arkansas school districts are curtailing terms because of financial distress; others have gone into reserves or are staying open by public subscription.

lad "Old Soldiers ever Die, they just fade away."

He said he was closing out 52 years of military service with that ballad in mind.

"I now close my military career and just fade away," he said dramatically. "An old soldier who tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

MacArthur finished speaking at 1:10 p. m. His address lasted 38 minutes.

MacArthur's appearance before the lawmakers was televised over all major networks to an audience of uncounted millions. Millions more heard his voice over radio.

But the White House said in advance that President Truman would not turn on the TV set in his office and that no one from the White House was going to the capitol to hear MacArthur.

At the hour of the speech, the President was conferring in his office with Secretary of State Acheson. It is routine for them to meet at 12:30 p. m. (EST) on Thursdays.

Mr. Truman has held himself personally aloof from all the ceremonies here for the general.

The President sent his army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to represent him at an airport welcome to the general, and he gave authority for federal workers to leave their jobs and watch a MacArthur parade and welcoming ceremony this afternoon. He also cancelled a speech he had scheduled for this afternoon to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, explaining he did not wish to detract from "General MacArthur's day."

The route chosen for the parade did not take it past Blair House, President Truman's temporary residence.

Acheson left Mr. Truman's office shortly before 1 o'clock and the President then crossed the street to Blair House for lunch. MacArthur still was speaking at the time.

MacArthur argued that there can be no "appeasement" of communism in Asia "without simultaneously undermining our efforts to halt it in Europe."

President Truman and other administration spokesmen have repeatedly said the United States would not engage in appeasement. Some U.S. Allies—notably Britain—have suggested steps which MacArthur obviously regarded as appeasement, including turning over Formosa to China, now in Communist hands.

Hope Fades for Missing Submarine

Portsmouth, Eng., April 19 —(AP)—Long silence from the bottom of the English channel cut all practical hope today for the rescue of 75 men entombed in the lost British submarine Affray.

The British admiral said this morning that it had received no reports to justify hopes that the men aboard the sunken sub might still be found alive.

Admiralty experts said the submarine's oxygen supply had been enough for only 48 hours — a deadline that was passed at 15 p. m. Greenwich time (3:15 p. m. EST) yesterday. It was exactly two days earlier that the big submarine dived on maneuvers and mysteriously settled to the bottom in some 200 feet of water.

But the admiralty said the hunt would go on. An armada of 34 ships prowled over the channel surface this morning, searching for some sign that would pinpoint just where the Affray lay.

The search has been extended to the sea bed itself where the admiral said it was sweeping the bottom with a dragnet of chains, wires and nets.

But there was no definite indication where any rescue operations should begin. Faint underwater telegraphic tappings heard yesterday have not been received since.

The admiralty said, however, it was confident the search was being concentrated in the right spot — southwest of the Isle of Wight, 40 to 50 miles from Portsmouth.

The Affray sent a signal from there Monday night to report it was about to make a practice dive. It was to surface Tuesday morning to report again. But the all clear signal never came.

It was from that same area that yesterday's faint tappings on underwater telegraphic devices were heard. But there was nothing more and no sign of wreckage and no survivors hobbling up through the escape hatches of the sunken sub.

The search which got underway Tuesday morning immediately after the Affray failed to report, has been a heartbreaking effort for

Peyton Cleared of Murder Charge

Jonesboro, April 19 —(AP)— Joe Peyton, 54, has been cleared by the Craighead county grand jury of a first degree murder charge. Peyton was charged with the murder of Walter Ashley, 39, at Peyton's home last June 7 as the climax of an alleged love triangle more than 2,000 rescue workers. There was one moment of high hope late yesterday afternoon. An airplane radioed it had spotted two objects — one yellow and one white. It dropped a sea flare near the spot.

A dozen ships, summoned by radio, converged on the spot. Then came the disappointment. The yellow object was a pinewood packing case, tossed aside by some ship. The white object appeared to be a dead fish.

Involving Peyton's young wife. The grand jury this week reported it found no true bill in the case and the charge against Peyton was dismissed.

McMath to Speak at Celebration

Camp Chaffee, April 10 — (AP) — Governor McMath will be a guest of honor when Fort Smith celebrates the second annual armed forces day May 10.

The Camp Chaffee public information officer announced today that McMath has accepted an invitation from Maj. Gen. David L. Ruffner, commander of the Fifth Armored Division.

The observance is planned jointly by the Fort Smith Chamber of Commerce and Camp Chaffee. A giant parade down Fort Smith's Garrison avenue is scheduled.

The main gate will be formally dedicated to memory of the late Brig. Gen. William O. (Bill) Darby, Fort Smith hero killed in Italy during World War Two. Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. Darby of Fort Smith, parents of the general, will be the special guests.

DARs in Stir Over Visit by General

Washington, April 18 — (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution are in a dither today; Gen. Douglas MacArthur's coming to Constitution Hall and there are not enough seats to go around.

Before they got word that the Minister MacArthur of the Murtreesboro, Tenn., chapter would address their convention, the DAR handed out 8,000 tickets.

Fire regulations permitting only 3,800 to 4,000 persons in the historic hall posed no problem; DAR knew from past experience that not all delegates and members ever attend any one session.

But that was BM (before MacArthur). Everybody's expected today.

Mrs. James B. Patton, president general, cautioned the Daughters to be sure and bring their tickets with them this morning, and added a warning: "It might be wise not to leave the building for lunch."

The general and Mrs. MacArthur and son Arthur are scheduled to arrive at 3 p. m.

Last night, the DAR heard Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said this nation "should not hesitate to bomb Chinese communications, airports and armies if that becomes necessary to win the war in Korea." He also proposed accepting Chinese Nationalist aid. Endorsement of such policy resulted in MacArthur's dismissal from his Far East command.

Taft opposed any American invasion of Communist China. Such action, he said, would require an army of at least a million men and would be a real threat to this country's economic existence.

"If any such major effort is to be required, we must preserve our power for possible war with Soviet Russia," he said.

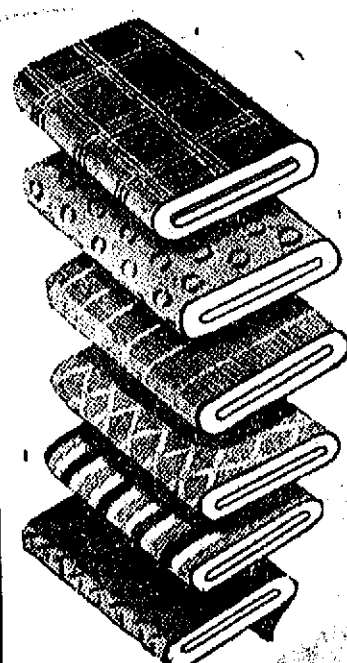

Taft declared this country is committed to a limited part in the development of an international army in Europe, but, he added, "it should remain limited."

Senior Play to be Presented Friday Night

Pat Wren as Aunt Jane and Mary Ann Dewdney as Aunt Cathie take the lead in the three-act mystery-comedy, "Aunt Cathie's Cat" Friday night at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium.

Supporting the two rather eccentric "unclaimed blessings" in their roles are their two nieces, Peggy and Dottie, played by Ruthie Clark and Frances Reece.

Portraying the energetic young real estate agent, Bill Pryor, is Raymond Garrett. Jo McWilliams takes the part of Jaz, his sister.

Adding mystery to the story are Polly Ann McLeland and Bobby Grayson as Maria and June, Argentinians. Tilly played by Joyce Buchanan affords many comedy lines.

Others making up the cast are Judno Hamilton as David Brent, Andy Moore as the gas man, Andrew Moore as the peace officer, Betty Cottingham as Miss Walker, Hedy Butler as the stiff, and of course, Tom, the black cat.

In addition to the play, well worth 25 and 40 cents, will be numbers by the little pupils of Mrs. Annie Lee Acker, a reading by Jo McWilliams entitled, "You Too, Can be a Writer," and songs in performance of Dorothy Shay by Rosanna Langley.

A rehearsal performance will be given Friday morning for primary and high school pupils and a dress rehearsal Friday afternoon for junior high students and those from senior high who cannot attend the night performance.

Those buying advance tickets are assured a seat, states William Cole, business manager for the production. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the senior class. Assisting William are Frances Hailey, Betty Hildebrand, Ruth McGulre, Mildred Vandiver, and Dale Word.

Pat Andrews and Harvey Barham have charge of sound and lights and June Billingsley and Virginia Ann Wynn are prompters. Faculty advisers are Misses, Hardin Bradley, John A. Engle and Coach J. T. Herrington.

Wage Fight Continues to Boil

Washington, April 18 — (AP) — The labor-industry fight over new wage board powers boiled on today. But a top administration official started to pay off.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said last night that the inflationary spiral is being checked at last. In fact, he said prices for consumers goods may take a tumble in the next few months because of abundant factory stocks.

Johnston conceded that "we have not yet been successful" after two months of effort in settling the wage stabilization board stalemate. He questioned legality of a proposed recommendation to the President that a wage board of all public members may soon be established.

Up to now the administration has been trying to put a board of labor, industry and public members back into business.

Labor, which yanked its representatives from such a wage board and all other defense agencies in February, wants a new wage board empowered to handle all sorts of labor disputes, including wages and virtually every type of working condition.

President Truman's 17-man mobilization advisory board came up with a plan for a new board late yesterday. It was approved by the advisory board's public, labor and farm members, with industry's four members dissenting in the 12-4 vote. The chairman, mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, did not vote.

The plan of the advisory board's majority would have an 18-member board of public, labor and industry members settle all disputes certified by Mr. Truman, as well as all disputes labor and management agreed to have the board act upon.

Vigorous protests came immediately from William H. Ruffin, president of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) and from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Both the NAM and chamber state could not legally be put into effect. Johnston disclosed to a reporter that Attorney General McGrath's office has so ruled — that a dispute-settling board such as that recommended by the mobilization advisory board is barred unless industry assents.

A man can spend an acre of land in about 15 days.

Industry wants the wage board confined to settling wage matters alone.

Dr. J. B. Sandifer and Miss Vivian Shelton of Little Rock were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Burke Shelton and Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Cole and family of Artesia, New Mexico, were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cole.

Mr. Duncan Dewdney of Shreveport was the weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dewdney.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad White of Little Rock have been the guest of Mrs. W. R. White and other relatives.

Carol Wynn of El Dorado visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wynn over the week end.

Sgt. Jim Hamilton of Ft. Sill, Okla., has been visiting his mother Mrs. Werner Hamilton.

Miss Betty Rene Hamby and Mr. Wade Bell of Little Rock were the week end guests of her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Wells Hamby.

Editors Meet, Discuss Press Freedom

Washington, April 19 — Four hundred editors met today to draw new battle lines in defense of freedom of the press against censorship and news suppression.

President Dwight D. Young cautioned the American society of newspaper editors that an outcropping of "would-be dictators" in the federal, state and local governments has become a home-front menace.

At the same time a "very strong" resolution denouncing the closure of Argentina's great newspaper La Prensa was reported being written for consideration at the close of the ASNE's annual meeting on Saturday.

Even the hero of the hour, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was to come under the editors' scrutiny. They have invited Keweenaw, Chicago Daily News correspondent, to describe his publicized tiff with MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters.

MacArthur himself was expected to visit the editors this afternoon, after his address to congress. But Young said ASNE's invitations to the general had brought no definite acceptance, and the editors did not expect a full-dress "speech."

Correspondent Beebe reported from Tokyo in January that MacArthur wanted to pull his troops from Korea and carry the war to China by sea and air blockade. Both MacArthur's headquarters and Washington denied the story.

Last week, after the general was fired by President Truman, Beebe disclosed that his source was MacArthur's military secretary, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney. He will tell ASNE about it tomorrow.

The editors arranged to view the general's appearance at the capitol and the MacArthur ceremonies at the Washington monument by television. Their luncheon speaker, President Truman, had canceled out, explaining that he felt this should be strictly MacArthur's day.

Young, in opening the editors' meeting, advised them that the United Nations movement to draft a world freedom-of-the-press pact has been "stacked against genuine freedom of information" as it is known in this country.

More Families Flee From Flood Waters

By The Associated Press
 More families left their homes in the upper Mississippi valley region today as surging waters from the Mississippi river rolled out over Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Colder weather spread over the flood area. It was cold and snowing in parts of the Rockies and Plains states.

The big river threatened heavy damage in Iowa and Illinois. Plans were being made in many river towns for evacuation of families early next week. Red Cross workers, national guardsmen and city officials prepared for the expected exodus from the big stream.

Thirty-five families left their homes in Dubuque, Ia., as flood waters spilled over a three-block area. A record 22.5 foot flood crest was expected by Monday.

Workers sandbagged the levee in East Dubuque, Ill., and residents were alerted to be ready to evacuate. At Sabula, Ia., workers battled a 5,000-foot dike that protects the town of 800 population.

The highest crest in history—10.5 feet—was expected in the area of the quad cities of Illinois-Iowa about Tuesday. Officials in Davenport, Ia., estimated 300 families will have to be evacuated. Precipitations were being taken in Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill.

The national guard at Des Moines said 300 sandbags had been sent to Clinton, Ia. The Red Cross set cots and bunkers to Galena, Ill., for use if the river floods the community of some 4,000.

The Mississippi crested almost three feet above flood level yesterday at La Crosse, Wis., where some 1,500 persons have been forced from their homes and another 1,000 were in homes surrounded by water. At Prairie du Chien, Wis., a crest of about 22 feet—four feet above flood level—was expected Saturday. About 150 families already have been evacuated.

The mighty river's level was steady in most of Minnesota. No further evacuations were expected at Winona, Minn., where some 200 families have been forced from their homes by the overflows.

While it was cool over the north central region, much colder whether, with snow and strong northerly winds, spread southward over Montana and into northern Wyoming. Temperatures dropped to nearly zero in Montana. It was six above at cutbank. The cool air extended over the plains states into northern Texas and a strong rift across the upper Mississippi valley and western Great Lakes region.

Mild weather continued in the east and southeast as well as most of Texas, the southwest and the Pacific coast states.

President Takes in a Movie

Washington, April 19 — As the crowd gathered at National airport last night to await the arrival of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the West coast, President Truman attended a movie.

He and Mrs. Truman headed a long list of Washington officials who attended a special showing of "Tales of Hoffmann" for the benefit of the National Symphony orchestra.

The movie was shown at the National Theatre, which is being used for evacuation of families early next week. Red Cross workers, national guardsmen and city officials prepared for the expected exodus from the big stream.

Bill Would Move Some U.S. Workers

Washington, April 19 — Sponsor of a senate bill to move at least 45,000 government workers out of Washington says that Russia has atom bombs and the planes to use them against the United States.

And Senator Holland (D-Fla.), floor manager for the bill, told the senate yesterday Russia "would not hesitate to drop the bombs on Washington" without a declaration of war or any kind of warning.

The senate agreed to begin voting on the measure next Monday. Several Republicans indicated they were opposed to the bill, either on economy grounds or because they did not believe the proposed dispersed buildings would be far enough outside Washington.

Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.), the majority leader, told a reporter he presented the measure would pass handsily.

The measure would move 20,000 employees out into the suburbs of Washington in four buildings to be constructed at a cost of $107,000, including highways and communications. The buildings would be 15 to 20 miles out of the city. It also would move at least 25,000 workers to permanent offices in other cities.

Some Republicans claimed the new buildings would have to be at least 30 miles away to provide protection from atomic attack. Holland answered the atomic experts had told the public works committee 20 miles was enough to give adequate protection.

The nation's most destructive fire in 1950 was a $4,000,000 loss of 50,000 acres of forest and 20 buildings on the El Capitan Indian Reservation, Conejos, Calif.
